

Claims

1. The method of preserving the legal rights of an individual in a state that has laws governing the rights of individuals accused of a DUI violation from a government agent to have the right to an independent sobriety test, comprising the steps of

i) providing a membership card with indicia indicating directions for the member to accept the government agent's request for a sobriety test and requesting from the government agent the right to have a test done by an independent agency;

ii) providing a kit having a container for receiving a urine sample from the accused;

iii) the name of a pre-ordained tester for accepting the urine sample for delivering the container obtained in step ii to a laboratory capable of analyzing said urine sample.

2. The method of preserving the legal rights of an individual in a state that has laws governing the rights of individuals accused of a DUI violation

1007443-000000

from a government agent to have the right to an independent sobriety test as claimed in claim 1 including the step of providing an identification card with indicia stating the pertinent state statute and the instruction to accept the requested sobriety test made by the government official and requesting that the government official permit the independent sobriety test.

3. The method of preserving the legal rights of an individual in a state that has laws governing the rights of individuals accused of a DUI violation from a government agent to have the right to an independent sobriety test as claimed in claim 2 including the step of forming a unit of member tester that are available to a member of the unit when accused of a DUI violation.

4. Means for assisting an individual accused of a DUI violation to preserve that individual's legal right in obtaining an independent sobriety test when being charged by a government official, comprising a membership card issued by a business organization to each of said members with indicia providing the names of at least two individual member testers and instructions to accept a sobriety test offered by the government official and requesting an additional sobriety test for delivering a urine sample by one of said testers and a kit consisting of at least one container for storing a urine sample of the accused individual whereby a sobriety test of said urine sample can be done by an independent agency.

5            5. Means for assisting an individual accused of a DUI violation to preserve that individual's legal right in obtaining an independent sobriety test when being charged by a government official wherein said kit includes an outer container having a sealed removable top, an inner container in said outer container for holding a urine sample and a pouch in said outer container for 10            transporting said inner container.

6. Means for assisting an individual accused of a DUI violation to preserve that individual's legal right in obtaining an independent sobriety test when being charged by a government official as claimed in claim 5 wherein said inner container includes cap means for sealing said inner container.

15            7. Means for assisting an individual accused of a DUI violation to preserve that individual's legal right in obtaining an independent sobriety test when being charged by a government official as claimed in claim 6 including a stick-on label having spaces for identifying the member being accused of the DUI violation.

2007-11-13 09:00:00